Fire Destroys Freight Car and Large Amount of Merchandise.

The Loss Estimated to Be $18,000-Young Man Attempts Snieide-General and Personal.

> Evening Star Bureau. No. 727 King Street, Bell Telephone No. 106, ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 8, 1899.

The entire fire department turned out shortly past 2 o'clock this morning for a blaze in a freight car, stationed in the yard of the Southern railroad, opposite West End. The flames had gained considerable headway before the engines arrived, and the inaccessibility of the burning car resulted in its destruction with its entire contents, consisting of general merchandise, in which was a large quantity of leaf tobacco. As the fire was outside the city limits, the Columbia engine returned to its house, and the Hydraulion fought the flames for an hour. The total loss is estimated at $18,000. It is supposed that tramps accidentally started the fire.

While attempting to board the car Henry Blondheim, a member of the Hydraulion company, had his hand severely burned. and was conveyed to his home, where nedical aid was rendered.

USE UNNECESSARY FORCE.

Court Condemns Action of Policeman and Train Men. Mr. William K. Richardson, a newspaper correspondent, was the complainant today in the Police Court, Judge Scott presiding, against Policeman Charles Smith, Motor man William O'Brien and Conductor Benja min Frazier, the two latter employes of the Brightwood Electric Company. Mr. Richardson said that the evening of June 28 he was coming from his home in Brightwood on an electric car. The car was very much crowded and the complainant said he had to stand on the running board and was clinging to one of the uprights. He was approached by the conductor for his fare, but he could not get it out of his pocket without danger of losing his hold and falling from the car. He told the conductor he would give him the fare before waiting as requested, it is alleged, Frazier said he would have to pay at once or get pay when he had a better chance to do so Frazier then stopped the car and calling O'Brien to his aid, they with Officer Smith, dragged the witness from the car in such a violent manner as to dislocate one of the fingers of his left hand and to otherwise bruise him. All the defendants said Mr. Richardson was handled gently. Smith, a former employe of the railway company, admitted having taken him by the legs. He said he did not know how Mr. Richardson got his hand hurt. Judge Scott asked Mr. Richardson who dislocated his finger, and he replied the motorman. The court said it was evident that mor force than necessary was used to put the complainant off the car, and that Mr. Richardson was unjustifiably treated. Each of the defendants was fined $5, which was

Hotel Stickney.

Nearly every one of the millions of people who have visited Atlantic City know some thing of the Hotel Stickney. It is always full of guests, and in the busy season dates have to be made ahead. This popularity is due to many things, but is increased by the fact that the hotel is only 100 feet from the beach and has an ocean view. L. V. Sitckney is the proprietor.
